TAKES CARBOLIC ACID AND DIES

Mrs. L. H. Miller Commits Suicide at Her Home in Walker Township, Near Homer.

ILL HEALTH GIVEN AS CAUSE

Locked Herself in Room and Took Deadly Drug Shortly After Noon Today.

Mrs. L. H. Miller, about thirty-five years old, committed suicide by taking carbolic acid shortly after noon today, at her home two and one-half miles southeast of Homer in Walker township. No reason can be assigned for her taking her life. It is said that she had been in very poor health for several years and that this may be the reason for her rash act.

Mrs. Miller locked herself in her room about one o'clock and took the deadly liquid. She took such a quantity that she was dead before she was found by the other members of the family. They missed her and after a careful search decided that she was locked in her room. They gained entrance and found her lying on the bed dead.

Ill health seems to be the most plausible for her taking her life. It is said that she had suffered for the past five years with a sore mouth and that it had caused her much pain. She had complained much in the last few years, but it is not known that she had ever threatened to take her life.

It is known that she had said that she was sick all the time and that she did not know how she could do her housework from one day to the next. A relative of hers said one day recently that she had heard Mrs. Miller say "I do not know how I will do all my work today, because I feel so bad."

That poor health is the reason for her killing herself is almost certain since it is said that she could have no other reason for such an act. Her home life was ideal, so it is said, and she had had no trouble of any sort during her life.

Mrs. Miller was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Conn, living east of Milroy. George Aultman, rural carrier, has carried the mail to the family for many years and says that Mrs. Miller was always at that time in the best of health. Her husband, L. H. Miller, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Miller of North Morgan street. They have visited here on numerous occasions. Mr. and Mrs. Miller were frantic when they received the news this afternoon.

Mrs. Miller is survived by her husband and two daughters. No arrangements for the funeral have been made.

IN AFRICA.
Since T. R. is about to arrive from his famous hunting trip in the wilds of Africa, the Daily Republican will publish a song in advance of his home coming from the big musical extravaganza, "In Africa." It will be found on page three of today's issue. "Under a Picture Hat," as sung by Adams and York in the comedy with music, is the title of the song.

Great Britain ranks second in the total number of patents issued.

Rev. J. W. Turner Gave Address at Odd Fellows Dedication.

Sandusky Lodge No. 856, I. O. O. F. dedicated their new hall this afternoon, commencing at 3 o'clock. The addresses were delivered by C. F. Northern of Greensburg and the Rev. J. W. Turner of this city. A class of twenty-five was initiated into the mysteries of the order on this occasion. Supper will be served to the invited guests.

LOSSES IN BARN FIRE ADJUSTED

The Insurance Companies Pay Total Amounts, $1,500 to Davis Bros. and $1,150 to Ed Caldwell.

BUS LINE RUNNING AS USUAL

R. F. Scudder has adjusted the claims for his insurance companies, resulting from the livery and bus barn fire last Saturday night. The building owned by Davis Bros. was insured in the Ohio Farmers for $1,500 and the total amount was paid to them. The bus barn property was insured for $1,150 in the Alemannia company and the total amount was paid. Special agents for the company were here to make the adjustment.

Ed Caldwell, who runs the bus line, has already purchased a bus and a cab and has been taking care of the traffic all week. The remainder of the equipment is expected to arrive the first of next week and they will be ready to handle the traveling public as usual. The headquarters are now located in the old Hiner barn in East Second street.

PAN OF DISH WATER EXTINGUISHED FIRE

Mrs. Frank Vance Came to Rescue When Fire Broke Out in Wardrobe.

CLOTHING BADLY DAMAGED

A pan of dishwater figured in putting out what threatened to be a disastrous fire at the home of Frank Vance in West Fifth street about ten o'clock this morning. A blaze suddenly broke out in a wardrobe of the Vance home and had gained good headway when it was discovered by Mrs. Vance. A pan of dishwater fortunately happened to be near and Mrs. Vance dashed it on the fire, entirely extinguishing it.

Mr. Vance is at a loss to explain how the blaze started, as he says that he never carries matches in his pockets. The fire burned up several pieces of clothing and the loss amounted to several dollars. The loss was adjusted this afternoon by J. Q. Thomas for $32.50. The fire department was not called out.

WORK CROWNED WITH RECEPTION

Presentation of D. A. R. Public Library Reading and Rest Rooms to City Enjoyable Affair.

OVER 300 PEOPLE ATTENDED

Numerous Speeches Made and Entertaining Musical Program is Rendered.

One of the most enjoyable affairs which has yet been held in connection with the new D. A. R. public library, reading and rest rooms and which comes as the crowning event of their achievement, that of permanently establishing a public library in the community, came last night when the rooms were properly opened with a reception. Over three hundred people were in attendance and the large number of men in the audience more than flattered the members of the local chapter.

The evening's entertainment was most enjoyable, because it tended to arouse interest in the new rooms and helped to further the cause and make it a fixture in the life of every citizen in Rushville and the county. The program of music, including the numbers by Wagoner's orchestra, two selections by the high school girls' glee club, a solo by B. F. Miller and a selection by the men's quartet was very much appreciated.

The evening's program was opened with a selection by the high school girls, which was loudly applauded. They were so heartily encoraged that they were compelled to respond with a second song.

Douglas Morris made a short talk, presenting the library to the public. His speech was well presented and pointed out the value of the library to the city and how the women of the D. A. R. had worked untiringly for its success. The main feature of his address was to the effect that the members of the chapter were ready at any time to turn the library over to any permanent organization for the city's use.

Mayor B. A. Black was asked to make the speech of acceptance in behalf of the city, but was unable to be present. E. B. Thomas replied to Mr. Morris' presentation speech with a few well chosen words. He said that he knew the city would undoubtedly appreciate such an addition.

Frank J. Hall, lieutenant governor, spoke for a few minutes on the State libraries. He dwelt at length on the traveling libraries and the good that they had accomplished at a comparatively small expense. He spent a short time on the work of the State library in connection with the local work.

The next number on the program was a solo by B. F. Miller, with Mrs. C. H. Parsons as accompanist. His music was beautiful and was one of the most pleasing selections on the program.

John F. Moses spoke for a time on the organization of a library in another city and likened it to the work of the Rushville women. He used as an example the establishment of the free public library at Huntington, which he said was a success in every particular, although it had a very small beginning. He related several instances how the people who established the library held small socials and had numerous other schemes to raise money to start the fund.

He appealed to the men present to pledge their support to the library, reading and rest rooms and many of them complied with his wishes.

TAKES NO CHANCE WITH FLETCHER

Escaped Convict, Who Was Captured by Sheriff Beabout, Now Safe Behind Bars.

NO OPPORTUNITY TO ESCAPE

Taken to Indianapolis, Placed in Jail There and Then Hurried to Prison Next Day.

Sheriff Jesse Cox allowed "no grass to grow under his feet" until he left with Leonard Fletcher for the Michigan City prison and by this time the big fellow who was taken into custody Thursday at Milroy, is now one of Warden Reid's charges at the Prison North, says the Greenfield Reporter.

Fletcher is come to be considered a bad man. He has a criminal career of considerable volume for one of his years and was still on the job when his career was checked Thursday.

Fletcher has given the Hancock county authorities endless trouble ever since he left the U. S. army. For two or three years he succeeded in evading arrests on grand jury indictments, until one day in passing the Fan saloon in Indianapolis Sheriff Cox saw him drinking at the bar. The officer went inside and placed his man under arrest.

He was wanted for assault and for forgery. He was tried on the first charge, but not convicted. Then he offered a plea of guilty to forgery and was paroled. He failed to walk the prescribed path and was taken into custody again and the parole revoked. The following morning when the sheriff went to his cell to have him prepare for the journey to Michigan City the bird had flown and with him another prisoner, Cordia Martin. Thursday, the men were arrested and Fletcher taken to the Marion county jail, where he remained until Friday, when Sheriff Cox took him to prison.

Fletcher was sentenced to the Michigan City prison and was to have been taken away on the morning that he and Martin escaped from the jail in this city. Martin was in jail awaiting grand jury action on a charge of burglary. So far as the public had been informed nothing had been heard of the two men since their escape until the news of their arrest yesterday. The sheriff, however, had received some trace of them and had not abandoned hope of turning the keys on them again. Mr. Cox was chagrined over the escape of the men and hence is feeling pretty good to know that he has apprehended them.

Martin presented a forbidding picture when he arrived on the 8 o'clock car last night with the sheriff from Indianapolis. His clothing was dirty, old and torn. And shackled as he was it was indeed an object lesson of the fruits of an evil life that he presented. Only a few months ago he was respected and well dressed. Now he returns to answer to the serious crime of jail breaking after weeks of association with a convicted forger.

Interest was intense in the return of the escaped prisoners and perhaps one hundred men were at the station when the 7 o'clock car arrived, the expectation being that the officers would return by the way of Knightstown. When they did not come the crowd waited for the 8 o'clock car and crowded about the sheriff and the prisoner when they stepped from the car. Mr. Cox, however, gave Martin no time to hold any reception, but hustled him on to the bastile, and after he had him secure said to the reporter "I'll keep my eye on the gentleman from now on."

As it would be as convenient to leave Indianapolis for the prison with Fletcher as to go by any other route the sheriff determined to leave the convicted man in the strong Marion county jail until he could continue with him on the northern trip which was interrupted several weeks ago.

THIRD STROKE PROVES FATAL

James Collier, Former Rushville Man, Dies at His Home in Indianapolis of Paralysis.

FUNERAL SERVICES MONDAY

A third stroke of paralysis proved fatal to James E. Collier at his home in Indianapolis about six o'clock last night. Mr. Collier was 52 years old and was born in Rush county. For five years he attended St. Meinard's Seminary and was a member of the Knights of Columbus. He was formerly in the undertaking business in Indianapolis. He leaves a widow and three children, two sons, Robert and Raymond, and one daughter, Patricia. The funeral services will be conducted from SS. Peter and Paul's cathedral in Indianapolis Monday morning at 9 o'clock.

BRANDS STORY AS FALSEHOOD

Roy Moore Denies Rumor That His Mother Threatened to Commit Suicide in Case of Marriage.

UNFRIENDLY TO HIS INTEREST

Roy Moore of St. Paul, the young man who a few days ago was reported to be preparing to wed Miss Florence Bruner of the same place, issued a statement Friday in regard to a feature of the rumor which made it appear that his mother had threatened to commit suicide if the young man married Miss Bruner. Moore declares the report concerning his parent was false, that there was absolutely no foundation for the story, and by his manner he indicated that he believed the report was given out by someone unfriendly to his interests.

PLAN FOR UNUSUAL DAY

Boys and Girls Will Give Program at Sunday School.

The special services tomorrow morning at the Main Street Christian church when the Bible school and church services will be combined will begin at 10 o'clock promptly. As this will be Children's day the mothers are requested to come and bring their babies and all the little folks. The boys and girls of the school will have the prominent place in the exercises of recitations and songs and it will be a red letter day for the children, and sunshine, flowers and song will reign supreme. The church is being decorated for the occasion and the officers and teachers of the school will welcome all comers heartily.

REAPPOINTED POSTMASTER.

WILL ATTEND ANNUAL SERVICE

Twenty-Five Members of Ivy Co. No. 35, U. R. K. of P. to go to Cambridge City.

THIRD REGIMENT MEMORIAL

Parade in the Afternoon Will be on Important Feature—Indianapolis Man to Speak.

About twenty-five members of Ivy Company, No. 35, Uniform Rank Knights of Pythias are planning to attend the annual memorial services of the Third regiment, Uniform Rank, K. of P. They intended to make the trip in automobiles as they did last year, but have changed their plans, fearing that the inclement weather would interfere. They will go to Connersville over the I. & C. traction line and from there take the train to Cambridge City. The Richmond Item says of the annual event:

The annual memorial services of the Third regiment, Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias, will be held at Cambridge City Sunday afternoon. The Uniform Rank of the local lodge as well as several other Knights will attend. Companies are expected from Knightstown, Connersville, Hagerstown, Modoc, Rushville, Wilkinson, New Castle and this city.

If the weather is favorable, the parade will be a very imposing feature. It will form at Church street, Cambridge City, at 2 o'clock and will be headed by the Cambridge City band. It will move west to Walnut street, north on Walnut to Main and east to Riverside cemetery. The service of the fraternity will be rendered there.

The principal speaker for the occasion will be C. E. Bowen of Indianapolis. Mr. Bowen is an eloquent and brilliant talker, and his address will no doubt be very appropriate to the occasion.

The memorial of the Third regiment is held annually on the second Sunday in June.

SEND WORD TO SHIP BOY HOME

Georgetown, Ky., Man Asks That Pearce, Who Was Fined For Riding Train, be Sent There.

SAID HE WOULD PAY THE COSTS

Sheriff Beabout received word from George H. Unley at Georgetown, Ky., this morning, saying that the costs in the case of young Pearce, who was fined for riding a C. H. & D. train here Thursday and is now laying them out in jail, would be paid if the authorities would send the boy there. Sheriff Beabout sent back word that he would send the boy if the money for the costs in the case were sent here and under no other consideration. Pearce, whose right name is Paul Stearee, was fined one dollar and costs amounting in all to ten dollars.

Silence!

The instinct of modesty natural to every woman is often a great hindrance to the cure of womanly diseases. Women shrink from the personal questions of the local physician which seem indelicate. The thought of examination is abhorrent to them, and so they endure in silence a condition of disease which surely progresses from bad to worse.

It has been Dr. Pierce's privilege to cure a great many women who have found a refuge for modesty in his offer of FREE consultation by letter. All correspondence is held as sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription restores and regulates the womanly functions, abolishes pain and builds up and puts the finishing touch of health on every weak woman who gives it a fair trial.

ITALY AROUSED OVER TRAGEDY

Elements of Mystery in Murder Of American Woman.

BODY FOUND IN TRUNK IN LAKE

Mrs. Porter Charlton, Formerly a New York Actress Who Married the Son of Government Law Clerk at Washington, Was Cruelly Murdered—A Russian Held on Suspicion and the Police Are Searching For Husband.

Rome, June 11.—The body of Mrs. Porter Charlton, an actress, of New York, was found in a trunk in the waters of Lake Como. The police believe the woman was not dead when she was placed in the trunk. They think she was stunned and while still alive was put in the trunk, which was thrown into the lake. The police have arrested a Russian of the name of Constantine Spolatoff, fifty years old. He admits that he knew the American. He gave contradictory and confused replies to the questions asked him.

The police suspect that the present murder is connected with the recent murder of Miss Reid, an American, at Naples, but refuse to give the reasons for their suspicions.

The authorities at Cernobbio, the nearest city of consequence to the scene of the murder, have ascertained that the woman had been living with her husband in the Villa Moltrasio, which had been let to them by a Russian gentleman they met casually. The police discovered after an examination of letters and papers found in the abandoned villa, that Mrs. Charlton, before her last marriage, was Mrs. Mary Scott Castle, of a well-known San Francisco family. Porter Charlton has disappeared, but Constantine Spolatoff, the Russian who rented the villa, was arrested and a general alarm has been sent out for Charlton's arrest.

The proprietor of the Hotel Suisse, on Lake Como, the keeper of an apothecary shop at Cernobbio, boatmen of the west bank of Lake Como, and the inhabitants of several villages in the neighborhood, were able to supply information of value.

The innkeeper said that a couple who called themselves Mr. and Mrs. Porter arrived at the Hotel Suisse several weeks ago. He described the woman, and his description fitted that of the dead woman. He volunteered the opinion that the pair quarreled frequently. He heard the woman crying often late in the night. He found that the man who called himself Porter treated her cruelly. The guests of the hotel complained that they were disturbed by her outcries. One morning, very early, the proprietor was aroused by shrieks. He found that the woman had hidden in a cupboard, hoping to escape her husband, but that the husband had found her and was dragging her to the street. The innkeeper said he was obliged then, for the reputation of his hotel, to order them out. They then went to the Villa Moltrasio.

Three days before the body was found the villa was closed. Persons who went there found that the doors were locked and the windows fastened. The suddenness of the abandonment created some discussion in the village.

ON THIS SIDE

Father of Missing Man Expresses Fear That He Also Was Murdered.

Washington, June 11.—When Paul Charlton, law clerk of the bureau of insular affairs of the war department, was informed of the death of his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Mary Scott Castle Charlton, he expressed the belief that his son, Porter Charlton, who was married and spending his honeymoon in Italy, had also been killed. He has no theory to advance, however, until more details have reached here.

"My son is about twenty years old," he said, "and for some time has been suffering from tuberculosis. He left Washington in December, 1908, and went to New York, where he obtained employment in the foreign department of the National City bank. Early in this year he met Mrs. Castle, whose stage name was Haldane Fountain. They were married in Wilmington, Del., March 12 last, and several days later sailed from New York for Genoa.

"Porter's health had been bad for some time, and his doctor ordered him to give up his work and go abroad in the hope of regaining his health. He had rented a villa near Lake Como in the Italian Alps, where he intended to remain until next fall. Only last Monday I received a letter from him telling me of his plans. His letter was full of endearing reference to his wife. I do not believe that he murdered her.

"From the few details available from the brief cable dispatch, I believe that Porter is dead, too. From the cheerful tone of his last letter I am inclined to believe that someone, possibly one of her former admirers who followed them to Italy, is at the bottom of the tragedy. I am afraid that both she and Porter are dead."

Make Your Surplus Earn 6%

With No Taxes

Why Be Satisfied With 2% to 4%—Take Advantage of the Dodge Manufacturing Co.'s Preferred Stock Issue—You Assume No Liability

SIX per cent dividends without an element of risk—with no taxes to pay—we are sure will appeal to all wide-awake Indians. These are salient features of an immediate preferred stock issue by the Dodge Manufacturing Company, Mishawaka, Indiana, manufacturers of everything for the mechanical transmission of power.

Your Income Non-Taxable

Whether you only have a few hundred dollars saved, or have tens of thousands at command, investment in shares in this issue will secure you an assured income.

Upon your income there can be no taxes—under the laws of the State of Indiana.

Nor can you incur any liability in the company's affairs. This is guaranteed under the iron-bound terms of the stock contract—filed with the Secretary of State of Indiana.

Holders of the common stock assume all liability, pay all taxes. Holders of the preferred stock have no liability, pay no taxes—yet draw 6% dividends.

No dividends, under the contract, can be paid on common stock until the preferred stock dividends have been paid in full. Nor can any payment ever be made on common stock principal until the preferred stock has been fully liquidated.

Payments of dividends on the preferred stock begin from the date of the certificates. They are semi-annual, payable January 1st and July 1st.

The stock is not listed—there is no element of speculation. There can be no risk.

The Absolute Certainty

Most men today will understand that the name of the Dodge Company guarantees the absolute certainty of the investment.

The capital stock of the company is $1,000,000. The surplus and reserves total $1,167,852.

The preferred stock issue authorized is $1,500,000. The shares are $100 each.

Ten thousand shares, or $1,000,000 worth of stock, are now to be sold.

Undoubtedly the issue will be far oversubscribed. This will mean that preferred shares will command a premium.

The Dodge Growth

The growth of this great industry makes one of the most interesting chapters of the nation's business history.

From a cradle in an old frame mill 31 years ago, the Dodge Company has expanded to cover about nineteen acres of floor space today. It employs more than 1,200 operatives.

The real estate and plant are worth nearly a million and a half dollars.

Mark Twain's Experience With Burglars

Probably the most startling and picturesque incident during Mr. Clemens' short time at Redding was when the two misguided young men from New York burglarized the house on the hill. This came very near being a tragic affair, and our sheriff carries two bullet-wounds to remember it by. The following morning neighbor Lounsbury's stable-yard looked like a field hospital in time of war. The village doctor was busy binding up the battered head of one of the burglars and caring for the bullet-wounds in the leg and thumb of the doughty sheriff. By great fortune I happened to be in the little town clerk's office when Mark Twain himself entered. It was a small, narrow room on the west side of the little one-story building. A safe stood at the north end, near a plain deal table at which the officials sat.

At the south end of the room there was, on this occasion, a small table, at which the two prisoners, with the gyes upon their wrists, sat waiting their fate. One of them had his head swathed in bandages and the back of his coat stiff with his own gore. The other, with an insolent smile, was smoking a cigarette. Some kind neighbor had supplied them sandwiches and coffee. The sheriff was limping around, with one hand done up in bandages, and, as he said, "a bootful of blood, begob." The officials were in the clothes they wore at their farm work, and the doors were crowded with rustics. In strong contrast with the simple surroundings was the fashionably dressed Miss Clara Clemens and her feminine companions.

When Mark Twain entered, arrayed in his white flannel suit, he stopped at the table occupied by the two "yeggmen." This was before any of the newspaper men had arrived, and they missed a most characteristic and interesting heart to heart talk with a live burglar. Said the white philosopher: "So you're the two young men who called at my house last night and forgot to put your names in my guest-books? Now that was a pretty sort of business for you, wasn't it, and a nice way to treat me, after I've been down on the East Side working for just such fellows as you, and after I made Birmingham take back what he said about the Jews."

"Excuse me, Mr. Clemens," interrupted the battered and wounded prisoner, for the first time showing any interest in the proceedings, "my parents are Jewish."

"Then you're a disgrace to your race!"

"Well, I guess I am," replied the burglar.

"Now you two young men," continued Mr. Clemens, "have been to my house, stealing my tinware, and got pulled in by these Yankees up here. You had much better have stayed in New York, where you have the pull. Don't you see where you're drifting to? They'll send you from here down to Bridgeport jail and the next thing you know you'll be in the United States Senate. There's no future left open for you."

It was worthy of remark that even the burglar treated Mark Twain with a deference which was the more marked because of the sullen contempt with which the "yeggman" greeted every one else.

Bulletin No. 55 sent out from the Indianapolis headquarters of the State brewers' organization, has been received by Rushville people. At the head of the bulletin is a quotation from Thomas Jefferson, in the middle is the temperance plank of the Democratic platform, 1910, and at the bottom is a quotation from Governor Marshall to the effect that he adheres to "the old fashioned Democratic doctrine," that governments were not instituted among men for the purpose of saying "what they shall eat, what they shall drink, or wherewithal they shall be clothed"—an excellent argument against the purefood law, for instance. Thomas Jefferson is dead and can not prevent having his words used as brewery weapons, but Governor Marshall of Indiana, is still alive and ought to get a good deal of comfort out of the fact that the brewery interests of Indiana feel that what he says is in their interest.

It is absolutely useless to think of barn dancing any more. The professors attending the national convention ought to know. Now it's quite proper to aviate to the tune of the "Cubanola Glide."

A local young man, there is, who wears his collar so tight that every time he swallows he tastes cider from his Adam's apple.

Perhaps this weather will entirely exterminate the crop of June bugs.

But suppose it does, the joint worms are right here to take their place.

The thin woman is slender, or thin, or anguilliform, or willowy or daper, while a fat girl's just fat. There's no high-brow name for them.

The weather was threatening today—threatening to clear up.

It is questionable whether or not "dry" Cambridge City can become acquainted with the Cambridge City of the past century.

They say that it might be possible to work a farmer by mail, but you can't make one that way.

Twenty Minutes of Your Time is all we ask to prove that you ought to own an

All the grit and nerve of a touring car—all of its staunch stick-to-itiveness—comes out in a hill climbing contest. The Oakland in that field is first.

It has won more notable hill climbs in the past two years than any other car.

Its engine takes hold of a steep grade with a bull-dog grip; and hangs on and goes up

That's what you want. That's what you need nine-tenths of the time—power on the hill, power on the up-grade, power at low speed—not power on the asphalt at forty miles an hour.

"Oakland Tilted Engine"

You get it on the Oakland. You get it because of the straight line drive—the tilted Oakland engine which puts every ounce of power into the wheels.

It was the straight line drive that won high honors in every hill-climb the Oakland has entered.

When you come to try out the Oakland, leave the speed test to the last. It will deliver you all the speed you want and more than you can ordinarily use—60 miles an hour if you like.

But make the hill test and the grade test first. Ask it to do the difficult—the almost impossible. Then note what it does with its full 40-horse power—what it does and how smoothly, how grandly it does it.

Oakland '40' at $1,700

Note that 40 horsepower, by the way—because the Oakland is the only 40-horse power on the market that sells at such a price.

The same qualities that place it at the forefront of the hill climbing class makes the Oakland the most economical of all forty horse-power cars.

None of the power leaks or goes to waste—the straight line drive attends to that; the wonderful system of lubrication helps and the beautiful simplicity of the motor does the rest.

An Oakland stock car, taken right off one of our dealer's floor, went through the Glidden tour with a perfect score, carrying a full load, and accomplishing all that was done by its big, high powered competitors.

The Oakland straight line drive shaft is made possible by tilting the engine. That's a simple little thing to do, but only an old experienced Oakland designer would think of it.

A novice can run and care for an Oakland because the Oakland has many other mechanical advantages—for instance, its lubricating system.

Oakland Lubrication

The largest distributor of automobiles in a western city says: "I wish every car that I sold had the Oakland lubrication system. It is the greatest system in the world."

It is worth while for you to send for a catalogue, or step into our store and have the system explained to you. It will take only a minute of your time, you will be repaid many times.

Oakland Removable Cylinder Heads

Another Oakland selling point is the removable cylinder heads, which facilitates the removal of carbon from the combustion chambers.

Oakland

40 H. P., $1,700

Compare the Oakland's Hill-Climbing Record With That of Any Other Car, Regardless of Price

The Oakland was winner in the free-for-all standing-start hill climb at Paris, Ill., May 19, defeating 60 horse power cars. This was the first hill climb our 1910 Model Forty entered this year.

1909 Hill Climbs

Morgan Hill Climb, Logansport, Indiana, April 2, Oakland won; time, 39 seconds, defeating nine other cars.

Fort George Hill Climb, New York, April 26, Oakland won in $2000 touring car class; time, 46 1-5 seconds.

Giant's Despair Hill Climb, Wilkesbarre, Pa., May 31, Oakland won in the $2,000 class; time 2:11 4-5 seconds.

Mt. Vernon Hill Climb, Mt. Vernon, N. Y., June 5, Oakland won, time, 25 1-5 seconds; defeating 24 entries, some selling as high as $4000.

Hoopeson, Ill., Climb, June 9, Oakland won in both $2,000 and $3,000 class; time, 30 1-4 seconds.

Porter Hill Climb, Cleveland, Ohio, June 9, Oakland won in both the runabout and touring car classes selling at $2000; time 55 4-5 seconds.

Fort Ancient Hill Climb, Cincinnati, Ohio, June 26, Oakland won in $2000 class and in the free-for-all, defeating five other cars selling as high as $4,200; time, 1:17 1-5 seconds.

Algonquin Hill Climb, Chicago, Ill., August 5, Oakland won first and second place in the $2,000 class.

To remove carbon from ordinary engine two garage men will work all day. Any one can remove carbon and clean the cylinders of the Oakland in one hour. Do it easily, cleanly and quickly.

Still another point is that the drip pan on the Oakland is riveted to the frame. You can't take it off, and you won't need to, because if you want to get at the inside of your engine, you simply have to remove the side plates and the engine is exposed. Never any need to go under the car. No need to remove the drip pan. No need to take out the bottom of your engine. Simply remove the side plates. You can do this; tighten your connecting rods, and put back the side plate in a few minutes—do it cleanly, easily and quickly.

Water is circulated by gear driven pump, centrifugal type. The water is drawn from the bottom of the radiator, forced up through cylinder jackets and into outlet pipe at top, and then passes to the radiator. The pump is driven from the crank shaft, so when motor is running water is circulating. The cooling is assisted by fan built into fly wheel, and draws current of air through radiator.

The "40" Touring Car, 4-Cylinder motor—40-horse power—112-inch wheel base—Shaft drive—Selective transmission, three speeds forward and reverse—Multiple disk clutch—Cork inserts—Straight line drive—Offset crank shaft, price, $1,700, including magneto, five lamps, horn, generator and full set of tools.

AMUSEMENTS

The Vaudet management offers an exceptionally good program for its Saturday night patrons in the Bison film, "For His Sister's Honor." It is a drama with an excellent plot and many startling situations. The scene of the story is laid in the West where true western life is depicted. Mr. Jones will sing a new illustrated song.

The Star Grand offers tonight a Selig wild-west picture entitled, "The Range Riders." Is it possible to imagine a more exciting or sensational picture than a great cattle stampede—curbed by fearless cowboys and dauntless riders of the Western range horse? The roping and throwing of the long-horns, the invasion of the camp by the notable red-skins—an ensemble picture of unusual merit carrying with it a theme of love, hatred and revenge—making a picture so true to nature.

Two sisters own a large Western ranch. Mary, the elder, is in love with Tom Mix, the county sheriff, and the foreman of the ranch is displeased with her attention to him and his actions make it necessary to discharge him. He then becomes a cattle rustler and arch enemy of the sheriff. A raid is made on the ranch one night and a number are wounded. The sheriff swears vengeance and organizes a posse to rid the county of the outlaw element. Earl Robertson will sing "Telling Lies."

A complete change of program at the Palace tonight.

The banker's wife drew from her bosom the letter Underwood wrote her before he killed himself.

"When he sent me this letter," she went on, "I tried to think myself into his condition of mind, so that I could decide whether he intended to keep his word and kill himself or not. I tried to reason out just how he felt and how he thought. Now I know. It's hopeless, dull, sodden desperation. I haven't even the ambition to defend myself from Mr. Jeffries."

Annie shrugged her shoulders.

"I wouldn't lose any sleep on his account," she said with a laugh. More seriously she added: "Surely he won't believe—"

"He may not believe anything himself," said Alicia. "It's what other people are thinking that will make him suffer. If the circumstances were only a little less disgraceful—a suicide's last letter to the woman he loved. They'll say I drove him to it. They won't think of his miserable, dishonest career. They'll only think of my share in his death—"

Annie shook her head sympathetically.

"Yes," she said; "it's tough! The worst of it is they are going to arrest you."

Tell Some Sick One

It Is Free If It Fails.

Will you do an act of Humanity? Will you tell some sick friend of this, my remarkable offer?

Tell him or her, that you have learned of a medicine so certain that its maker dare say to the sick: "It is absolutely and unconditionally free if it fails."

And you, no doubt, already know of Dr. Shoop's Restorative and its popularity.

For 20 years it has been the standard remedy for Stomach, Kidney and Heart ailments everywhere in America.

When the "inside" or controlling nerves of these vital organs begin to fail, it is Dr. Shoop's Restorative that has quickly vitalized, and strengthened, and brought these nerves and organs back to health again.

I do not dose the Stomach, nor stimulate the Heart or Kidneys—for that is all wrong.

Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes direct to the cause of these ailments—the failing, faltering, inside or controlling nerves. And herein lies the key to its success.

When these nerves are again made well and strong, then that is the certain end of all such sickness.

To me it is a great satisfaction that I am the only physician able to say to the suffering sick, "Take my prescription for full 30 days and if it fails to help you, the entire expense is mine—not yours."

Then why should the sick take any chance on any other medicine, whose maker dare not back it just as I do by this remarkable offer?

I also have a Rheumatic Remedy—and that is the same identical "No help, no pay" protective plan.

Besides, you are free to consult me first as you would your home physician. My advice and the book below are yours—and without cost.

Perhaps a word or two from me will clear up some serious ailment. I have helped thousands upon thousands of invalids to a definite prescription of personal advice plan. My best effort is surely worth your simple request.

So let me send you an order at once. Take a postal will bring the opportunity.

I will have an honest and trustworthy druggist to whom you can conveniently write for the 30 day test.

But first, ask me for the order, for all druggists are not authorized to give the 30 day test.

So write me now and save all delays. Remember that tomorrow never comes. Address Dr. Shoop, Box 12, Racine, Wis.

In sickness, if a certain hidden nerve goes wrong, then the organ that this nerve controls will also surely fail. It may be a stomach nerve, or it may have given strength and support to the heart and kidneys. It was Dr. Shoop that first pointed to this vital truth. Dr. Shoop's Restorative was not made to dose the stomach nor to temporarily stimulate the heart or kidneys. That old-fashioned method is all wrong. Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to these failing inside nerves. The remarkable success of this prescription demonstrates the wisdom of treating the actual cause of these failing organs. And it is indeed easy to prove. A simple five or ten days test will surely tell. Try it once and see!

Alicia turned ashen pale.

"Arrest me!" she cried.

"That's what Capt. Clinton says," replied the other gravely. "He was here—he is here now—with two men, waiting for you." Apologetically she went on: "It wasn't my fault, Mrs. Jeffries—I didn't mean to. What could I do? When I told Judge Brewster, he sent for Capt. Clinton. The police are afraid you'll run away or something—"

"And my husband!" gasped Alicia; "he doesn't know, does he?"

"No, I didn't tell them. I said you'd tell them yourself, but they won't trust you when they know who you are. Let's tell the judge—he may think of a plan. Suppose you go away until—" Puzzled herself to find a way out of the dilemma, Annie paced the floor nervously. "Oh, this is awful!" she exclaimed. "What are we to do?"

The banker's wife wearily nodded assent.

"Yes, I realize that," she said, "but the disgrace of arrest—I can't stand it, Annie! I can't go to prison even if it's only for a minute." Holding out a trembling hand, she went on: "Give me back the letter. I'll leave New York to-night—I'll go to Europe—I'll send it to Judge Brewster from Paris." Looking anxiously into her companion's face, she pleaded: "You'll trust me to do that, won't you? Give it to me, please—you can trust me."

Her hand was still extended, but Annie ignored it.

"No—no," she said, shaking her head, "I can't give it to you—how can I? Do you understand what the letter means to me?"

"Have pity!" cried the banker's wife, almost beside herself. "You can tell them when I'm out of the country. Don't ask me to make this sacrifice now—don't ask me—don't!"

Annie was beginning to lose patience. The woman's selfishness angered her. With irritation, she said:

"You've lost your nerve, and you don't know what you're saying. Howard's life comes before you—me—or anybody. You know that!"

"Yes—yes," cried Alicia desperately, "I know that. I'm only asking you to wait. I—I ought to have left this morning—that's what I should have done—gone at once. Now it's too late, unless you help me—"

"I'll help you all I can," replied the other doggedly, "but we promised Judge Brewster to clear up this matter to-night."

Suddenly there was a commotion at the door. Capt. Clinton entered, followed by Detective Sergeant Maloney. Alicia shrank back in alarm.

"I thought Judge Brewster was here," said the captain, glancing suspiciously round the room.

"I'll send for him," said Annie, touching a bell.

"Well, where's your mysterious witness?" demanded the captain sarcastically.

He looked curiously at Alicia.

"This is Mrs. Howard Jeffries, Sr." said Annie, "my husband's step-mother."

The captain made a deferential salute. Bully as he was, he knew how to be courteous when it suited his purpose. He had heard enough of the wealthy banker's aristocratic wife to treat her with respect.

"Beg pardon, m'm; I wanted to tell the judge I was going."

The servant entered.

"Tell Judge Brewster that Capt. Clinton is going," said Annie.

Alicia, meantime, was once more on the verge of collapse. The long threatened expose was now at hand. In another moment the judge and perhaps her husband would come in, and Annie would hand them the letter which exculpated her husband. There was a moment of terrible suspense. Annie stood aloof, her eyes fixed on the floor. Suddenly, without uttering a word, she drew Underwood's letter from her bosom, and quickly approaching Alicia, placed it unnoticed in her hand. The banker's wife flushed and then turned pale. She understood. Annie would spare her. Her lips parted to protest. Even she was taken back by such an exhibition of unselfishness as this. She began to stammer thanks.

"No, no," whispered Annie quickly, "don't thank me; keep it."

Capt. Clinton turned round with a jeer. Insolently, he said to Annie:

"You might as well own up—you've played a trick on us all."

"No, Capt. Clinton," she replied with quiet dignity; "I told you the simple truth. Naturally you don't believe it."

"The simple truth may do for Judge Brewster," grinned the policeman, "but it won't do for me. I never expected this mysterious witness, who was going to prove that Underwood committed suicide, to make an appearance, did I, Maloney. Why not? Because, begging your pardon for Noticing that her companion seemed hurt by her frankness, she changed the topic.

"Honest to God!" she exclaimed good-naturedly, "I'm broken-hearted—I'll do anything to save you from this—this public disgrace. I know what it means—I've had my dose of it. But this thing has got to come out, hasn't it?"

The banker's wife wearily nodded assent.

"Yes, I realize that," she said, "but the disgrace of arrest—I can't stand it, Annie! I can't go to prison even if it's only for a minute." Holding out a trembling hand, she went on: "Give me back the letter. I'll leave New York to-night—I'll go to Europe—I'll send it to Judge Brewster from Paris." doubting your word, there's no such person."

"Begging your pardon for disputing your word, captain," she retorted, mimicking him, "there is such a person."

"Then where is she?" he demanded angrily. Annie made no answer, but to do it, she realized what it was costing her. Her position, her future happiness were at stake. It was too great a sacrifice. Perhaps there was some other way.

"No, no, not yet," she whispered.

But Alicia brushed her aside and, thrusting the letter into the hand of the astonished police captain, she said:

"Yes, now! Read that, captain!"

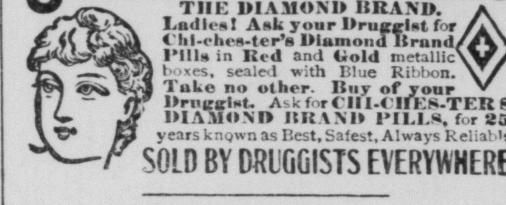

Capt. Clinton slowly unfolded the letter. Alicia collapsed in a chair. Annie stood by helpless, but trying to collect her wits. The judge watched the scene with amazement, not understanding. The captain read from the letter:

"Dear Mrs. Jeffries." He stopped, and glancing at the signature, exclaimed: "Robert Underwood!" Looking significantly at Annie, he exclaimed: "Dear Mrs. Jeffries! Is that conclusive enough? What did I tell you?"

Continuing to peruse the letter, he read on: "Shall be found dead tomorrow—suicide—" He stopped short and frowned. "What's this? Why, this is a barefaced forgery!"

JURY DECLARES HEIKE GUILTY

Secretary of Sugar Trust Convicted of Fraud.

THE SAME AS TO GERBRACHT

Former Refinery Superintendent Convicted With the Secretary in the Weighing Frauds Case, but the Jury Could Not Reach an Agreement in the Case of Bendersnagel, the Cashier at the Refinery.

New York, June 11.—Charles R. Heike, the secretary and treasurer of the American Sugar Refining company, and Ernest W. Gerbracht, formerly superintendent of the Havemeyers and Elder refinery in Williamsburg, were found guilty of complicity in the sugar weighing frauds on the refinery docks in Williamsburg by a jury in the criminal branch of the United States circuit court. The third defendant, James F. Bendersnagel, who was formerly cashier of the Havemeyer & Elder refinery, was the subject of a long-fought disagreement among the twelve jurors during the nearly twelve hours in which they deliberated.

This is the verdict returned by the jury: "We find the defendant Heike guilty on the sixth count of the indictment. We find the defendant Gerbracht guilty as charged in the indictment. As to the defendant Bendersnagel, we cannot agree."

John B. Stanchfield, who is counsel for Heike, arose and asked that any further action be deferred until a reasonable time to enable counsel to determine on the next steps to take. With the acquiescence of Henry L. Stimson, the government prosecutor, Judge Martin, said that there would be an arrest of judgment and asked counsel to have the defendants in court at a time appointed, when the court would decide what would be done. The prisoners were allowed to go on the bail they have been under since their indictment, on the understanding that their respective counsels should be responsible for their appearance.

The sixth count on which Heike was convicted is an omnibus count charging all the defendants with unlawfully and willfully conspiring with each other and Oliver Spitzer and his convicted subordinates of knowingly making and effecting and aiding in effecting the weights of dutiable sugar at less than their true weights by means of false and fraudulent statements prior to March 1, 1907. The maximum penalty on this count is two years' imprisonment or a fine of $10,000, or both. In the first four counts of the indictment the maximum penalty is two years or $5,000 or both on each count. The penalty on the fifth count is the same as that on the sixth. Gerbracht, who was convicted on all counts, can be given the maximum total sentence of twelve years or $40,000, or both.

Thousands Thrown Out of Work.
Fall River, Mass., June 11.—The Fall River mills, owned by M. C. D. Borden of New York, closed today and will not resume operations until Monday, June 20, and then will run only on alternate weeks. The weekly payrolls amount to about $48,000, and about five or six thousand operatives will be affected.

Postponed Long Air Flight.
New York, June 11.—Charles K. Hamilton did not attempt his flight from New York to Philadelphia and return today, as was scheduled. If the weather conditions are favorable he hopes to get away Sunday morning at 7 o'clock. The delay is attributed to some changes in the machinery.

He Changed His Politics.
Little Rock, Ark., June 11.—The state Republican convention here, on motion of Powell Clayton, unanimously nominated for governor Andrew I. Roland of Hot Springs county, son of a Confederate soldier and three times elected judge of that county by the Democrats.

ABBREVIATIONS IN INDICTMENT

Knocked the Case of Whitneck Out of Court.

THREE DAYS WERE WASTED

After Jury Had Been Secured in County Case at Wabash It Was Discovered That an Abbreviated Name Had Been Used in the Indictment, Which the Court Held Invalidated That Instrument.

Wabash, Ind., June 11.—Because the indictment said that a forged paper was given "Jos. H. Rees" instead of "Joseph H. Rees" the forgery indictment of Ora Whitneck was knocked out of court.

Two days had been taken for getting a jury and one day devoted to arguing the contention of the defense that the state had erred in this indictment. Whitneck is city engineer and was county surveyor. He is charged with forging vouchers.

Indicted nine times, he will be tried on some other charge. Whitneck is the only Democratic county official elected in Wabash county in a half century.

Members of the Indiana Associated Weeklies Meet at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, June 11.—The spring meeting of the Indiana Associated Weeklies, an organization of publishers of papers in towns not county seats, is being held at the Grand hotel today. President B. F. Harris presiding. The program of the forenoon session included papers bearing upon the work of the publishers by A. W. Roebuck, J. H. Lindemuth of the Bunker Hill Press, E. H. Knapp of the Winona Review, H. Clay Owen of the Rosedale Tribune, A. C. Hutchinson of the Cayuga Herald, Charles Foster of the Idaville Observer, O. K. Gleason of the Andrews Signal, and H. L. Melton of the Amboy Independent.

This afternoon was given over to a series of talks by representatives of supply houses and general suggestions for the good of the association.

WANTED TO BE FUNNY

Census Enumerator at Terre Haute Gets the Town in Bad.

Terre Haute, Ind., June 11.—It now develops that the reason District Enumerator Samuel J. Wilton made his charge that the census enumeration in Terre Haute on the recount was padded, was because of certain ridiculous names, as follows: Orin Whooverinthesamhillheis, Mr. Campsokemonthegob, A. Sparrow, Mr. Windmill, P. Boozenhagen, Mac McMikulischki, Mr. Holbytton.

Others equally as ridiculous and unreasonable, it is said, were found, rivalling in absurdity E. Summer, L. Spring and T. Building for early summer, late spring and tall building. Serious developments may follow the census tampering.

FRESH WATER PEARLS

Collection of $80,000 Worth Gathered

Along the Wabash.

Owensville, Ind., June 11.—Dr. Pepper of Mt. Carmel has a shipment of Wabash river pearls valued at $80,000. He bought them from mussel gatherers along the river between Grayville and Mt. Carmel. Dr. Pepper has been engaged in buying pearls for a New York firm since the pearl-hunting industry started several years ago.

Every summer representatives of pearl dealers in Paris journey to this country and buy all the Wabash pearls they can find.

SAGE FOR DARKENING THE HAIR.

There is nothing new about the idea of using sage for restoring the color of the hair. Our great-grandmothers kept their locks soft, dark and glossy by using a "sage tea." Whenever their hair fell out or took on a dull, faded or streaked appearance, they made a "breeze" of sage leaves and applied it to their hair with wonderfully beneficial effect. Nowadays we don't have to resort to the old-time, tiresome method of gathering the herbs and making the brew. This is done by skillful chemists better than we could do it ourselves, and all we have to do is to call for the ready made product. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, containing sage in the proper strength, with the addition of Sulphur, another old-time scalp remedy. This preparation is sold by all first-class druggists for 50c. and $1.00 a bottle, or is sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

For sale and recommended by Harrgrave & Mullin.

WORK CROWNED WITH RECEPTION

The Rev. J. W. Turner told an original story in the life of Lincoln, which came to him from the wife of a very close friend of the martyred president. The little incident was very interesting and new in that it is a story which has never appeared in print. To show his appreciation of the work of the local women, the Rev. Mr. Turner presented the library with a complete set of works of the famous Scotch novelist, Sir Walter Scott whom he said was his favorite. This is the first complete set of works that the women have had the pleasure to accept.

Prof. J. H. Scholl made a short talk on the relation of the free public library to the public schools. He said that the value of such an institution in a community was almost un estimable since it could be put to such good use by every pupil. Prof. Scholl praised the members of the D. A. R. for their work along that line and said that they were deserving of much credit.

The male quartet composed of B. F. Miller, T. A. Craig, Dr. F. M. Sparks, E. B. Thomas and Dr. F. R. McClainahan, rendered a selection, which was loudly applauded. The evening's entertainment was closed with a number by Wagoner's orchestra. They played several times during the evening.

The members of the D. A. R. are more than pleased with the reception, in view of the fact that the public took so much interest and for another reason too. They received several money donations last night and more were promised. Aside from that several volumes were added to the already fast growing collection and other people promised to bring books which will make a very noticeable addition to their shelves.

The money which they received last night came entirely unsolicited. They do not wish to pose as beggars, nor will they ask for assistance along that line, but they will gladly receive and heartily appreciate any contributions. They did not have the money last night to pay the expenses of the reception, but the donations made, helped them wonderfully.

SALVATION ARMY NOTES.

With this month commences a three-month-summer campaign, when a special effort will be made to advance in every department of the Salvation Army work. Locally it consists of converts and new members of the Senior and Junior work. Plans are being laid to make these three months a most successful three-month campaign.

Services at the church Sunday at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. The latter will include the commissioning of two local officers of the Rushville Corps, and possibly the enrolling of a new number in its ranks. All are welcome.

DOUBTFUL ABOUT
CAPTURE REWARD

Sheriff Beabout Does Not Believe That
Hancock County Commissioners
Offered $75.

FAULT IS WITH THE SHERIFF

Although a reward would be very acceptable to Sheriff Clata Beabout for the capture of Cordia Martin and Leonard Fletcher, who broke jail from Greenfield several weeks ago, and he would not refuse it, he thinks it is very doubtful that a reward will be given. He says that when a prisoner is once in the care of the sheriff, it is his fault if he escapes and he does not believe that the county commissioners could offer a reward for their capture. If a man is wanted for a crime, the commissioners may offer a reward not to exceed $500 for his capture.

The Greensburg papers persist in saying that a reward of $75 has been offered for the escaped prisoner's capture and that it will be paid. The Greensburg Democrat said today that the sheriff of Decatur county had received a letter from the authorities of Greenfield Friday morning stating that the money would be sent to Sheriff Patterson and that it was to be divided equally with Sheriff Beabout.

—Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Colvin and daughter, Miss Lena, of Indianapolis and Mr. and Mrs. Carter Bourne of Indianapolis will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Colvin in North Willow street tomorrow.

Commissioner Barnard Explains the Statute About Opening Foods
And Drugs.

IS LIABLE TO PROSECUTION

A circular letter has been issued to grocers and druggists all over the State by H. E. Barnard, State food and drug commissioner, calling attention to an interpretation of the law concerning broken packages. The federal interpretation of the statutes is that the term "original package" must be taken to mean the shipping case in which the goods leave the wholesaler and not the individual cans, jars, cartons, etc.

Under the interpretation a dealer selling a jar of pickles (unopened) with alum can be prosecuted under the State laws.
